

OUR OUTLOOK

What Goes Around...

The term “gone full circle” often denotes the arrival back to a beginning, with no semblance of progress. This of course is true unless the circle happens to be a 5500-year-old Mesopotamian creation, the Wheel. In which, “going full circle” is representative of tremendous progress, and in the case of Univar Ag, the inspiration behind the dedicated planning we’ve done to meet our market promises.

Getting anywhere, including the accomplishment of market promises, is a function of organizing an appropriate structure to get you there; and nothing functions quite as perfectly as a wheel. The simplicity of limited parts all equally co-dependent upon the success of the other, served as the perfect metaphor and ultimately the template of Organizing to Win.

The Univar Ag Axle, the center of the mission, values and purpose, support the Spokes, comprising the divisional teams, who are reaching out equally to connect with and support the market Rim. Every component is dependent and supportive of the other, forming inherent strength, efficient momentum and forward progress.

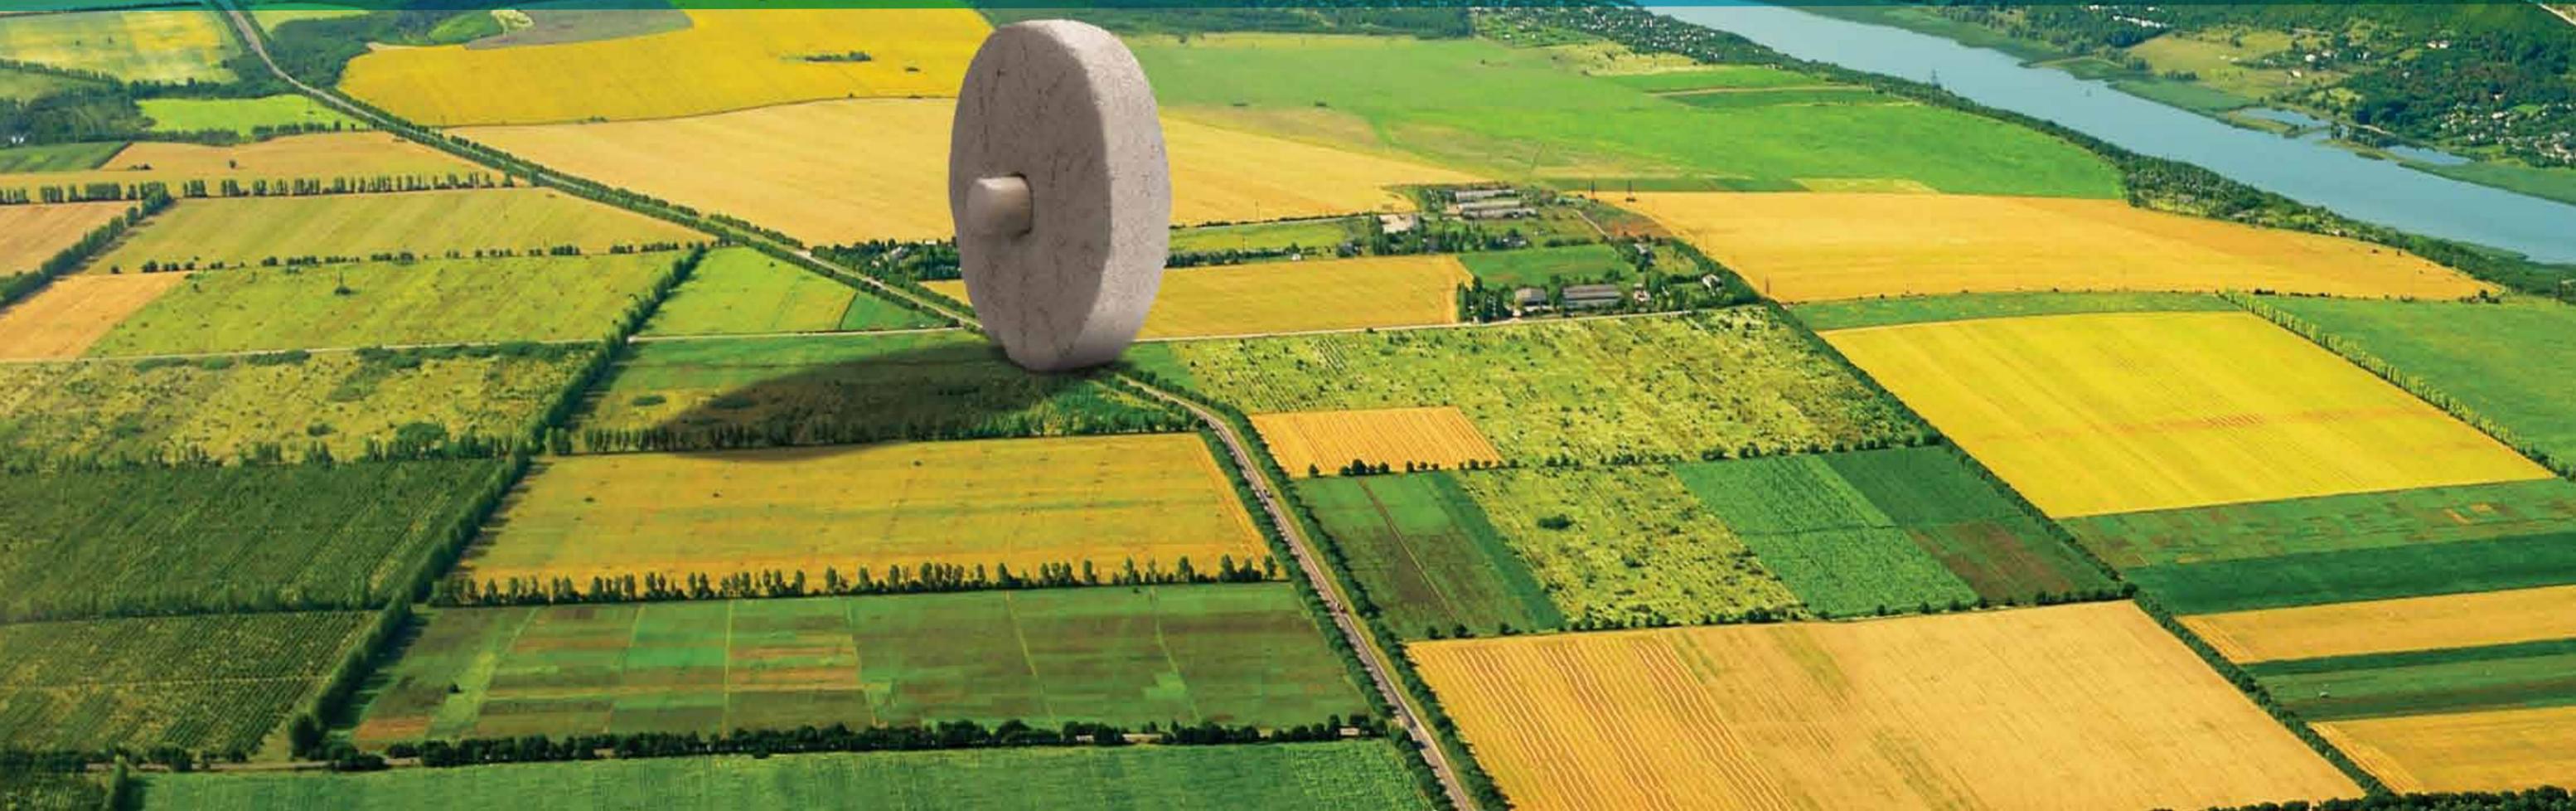

Defining our structure along this perspective has released Univar Ag from the confines and cumbersome restraints of old world org charts and allowed for a fluid and logical evolution, rolling together in a unified direction.
